The Foothill Extension is on track to reach Azusa in 2013.

On October 22, the Foothill Extension received the necessary commitments to move forward with construction. The project will break ground in June 2010 and reach the next six stations in Arcadia, Monrovia, Duarte, Irwindale and Azusa in 2013.

In just four years, the project will create thousands of jobs, billions of dollars in economic development opportunities and increase ridership on Metro's Gold Line by 3.3 million annual daily boardings.
